Greetings Faculty,

We hope your summer is off to great start.

If you are considering any fellowship or grant applications this summer, please don’t hesitate in reaching out to us for support. We are also available for individualized grant opportunity research.

We hope you that you will find this edition’s grant and news highlights helpful.

As always, feel free to send any comments or suggestions directly to us here.

Kind regards,

Pamela Tuffley
Featured Funding Opportunity

National Endowment for the Humanities Summer Stipends Program

“Summer Stipends provide $6,000 for two consecutive months of full-time research and writing. Recipients must work full-time on their projects for these two months and may hold other research grants supporting the same project during this time. Summer Stipends normally support work carried out during the summer months, but arrangements can be made for other times of the year.”

This year, NEH invites projects related to The Common Good: The Humanities in the Public Square, an initiative that “seeks to connect the study of the humanities to the current conditions of national life,” Standing Together, for projects related to war and the military, and the Protecting our Cultural Heritage program, “for projects that study, document, or create digital representations of lost or imperiled cultural heritage materials.”

As you may know, to be eligible for this highly competitive award, faculty members must be nominated by their respective college or university. Each institution may only nominate two applicants.

Barnard’s Nomination Process:
To be considered as a nominee, please submit preliminary applications to Chris Johnson by 5:00 p.m. on Friday, September 8, 2017.

Provost Bell will review all submissions and announce the nominees no later than Friday, September 22 and in advance of this year’s September 27 deadline for submission to NEH.

Preliminary applications should include a:
1) Narrative, not to exceed three single-spaced pages;
2) Bibliography, not to exceed one single-spaced space; and
3) Résumé, not to exceed two single-spaced pages.

Selected applicants will also need two letters of recommendation to complete the application to NEH, and these letters should be coordinated according to the guidelines and well in advance of the deadline. Given the quick turnaround, it is highly recommended that preliminary applications also include the two letters of recommendation.

If you have any questions about the Summer Stipend process, please do not hesitate to reach out to Chris Johnson in Sponsored Research.
Grants and Fellowship Opportunities

General Interest and Cross Disciplinary

The American Academy in Berlin
Deadline: September 29, 2017
“...[awarding] residential fellowships for the academic year 2018-19...The Academy seeks to enrich transatlantic dialogue in the arts, humanities, and public policy through the development and communication of projects of the highest scholarly merit. For 2018-19, the Academy is also interested in considering projects that address the themes of migration and social integration, as well as questions of race in comparative perspective...Past recipients have included anthropologists, art historians, historians, musicologists, journalists, poets and writers, filmmakers, sociologists, legal scholars, economists, and public policy experts, among others. Fellowships are typically awarded for an academic semester. Bosch Fellowships in Public Policy may be awarded for shorter stays of six to eight weeks.” <<more>>

The Dorothy and Lewis B. Cullman Center for Scholars and Writers
Deadline: September 29, 2017
“The Center... offers fellowships to people whose work will benefit directly from access to the research collections at the Stephen A. Schwarzman Building at Fifth Avenue and 42nd Street. Renowned for the extraordinary comprehensiveness of its collections, the Library is one of the world's preeminent resources for study in anthropology, art, geography, history, languages and literature, philosophy, politics, popular culture, psychology, religion, sociology, and sports.” <<more>>

Harvard Business School—Fellowships in Business History
Deadline: October 2, 2017
“The recipient spends a year in residence working on his or her research project and participating in the School’s various activities in business history.” <<more>>

National Archives & Records Administration—Archival Projects
Deadline: August 8, 2017 (draft deadline)
“The National Historical Publications and Records Commission seeks projects that ensure online public discovery and use of historical records collections. All types of historical records are eligible, including documents, photographs, born-digital records, and analog audio and moving images. Projects may preserve and process historical records to: Create new online Finding Aids to collections; digitize historical records collections and make them freely available online. The NHPRC encourages organizations to actively engage the public in the work of the project.” <<more>>

National Geographic Society—Committee for Research and Exploration Grant
Deadline: July 1, 2017, October 1, 2017
“The National Geographic Society awards grants for conservation, education, research, storytelling, and technology through its Committee for Research and Exploration. All proposed projects must be novel and exploratory, and be of broad interest. National Geographic Society grant-funded projects should be bold, innovative, and transformative.” <<more>>

National Science Foundation—Cultural Anthropology
Deadline: August 15, 2017
“The primary objective of the Cultural Anthropology Program is to support basic scientific research on the causes, consequences, and complexities of human social and cultural variability. Anthropological research spans a wide gamut, and contemporary cultural anthropology is an arena in which diverse research traditions and methodologies are valid. Recognizing the breadth of the field’s contributions to science, the Cultural Anthropology Program welcomes proposals for empirically grounded, theoretically engaged, and methodologically sophisticated research in all subfields of cultural anthropology.” <<more>>

The Notre Dame Institute for Advanced Study—Research Support Fellowship
Deadline: October 16, 2017
“The Notre Dame Institute for Advanced Study is dedicated to fostering and supporting integrative scholarship that addresses critical questions at the intersection of the arts, engineering, humanities, law, and natural, physical, and social sciences, especially work that transcends disciplinary boundaries...NDIAS offers residential fellowships for periods ranging from three weeks to a full academic year (fall and spring semesters, August through May). Fellowships range up to $60,000 per academic year (up to a maximum of $30,000 per semester), or pro-rated amounts for shorter periods.” <<more>>

Education

The George Eckert Institute Library—Fellowship Programme
Deadline: September 15, 2017
“The Georg Eckert Institute Library is an unparalleled resource for international textbook research, as is demonstrated by the continuously high demand among researchers from Germany and abroad for the research facilities it provides. In order to fulfil its purpose, the Institute relies upon close and ongoing contact with scholars and educational practitioners from Germany and around the world. With this in mind, the Institute and its association of supporters have established a fellowship programme for the promotion of international academic exchange and the development of international textbook research, with a particular emphasis on comparative approaches.” <<more>>

Arts and Humanities Funding

Samuel Kress Foundation—History of Arts Grants Program
Deadline: October 1, 2017
“The History of Art program supports scholarly projects that will enhance the appreciation and understanding of European art and architecture. Grants are awarded to projects that create and disseminate specialized knowledge, including archival projects, development and dissemination of scholarly databases, documentation projects, museum exhibitions and publications, photographic campaigns, scholarly catalogues and publications, and technical and scientific studies.” <<more>>
Grants and Fellowship Opportunities (cont’d)

Social Science

Kellogg Institute for International Studies – Visiting Fellowship
Deadline: October 1, 2016
“[This] residential program offers [faculty] time to pursue scholarly inquiry...advance personal research, and collaborate with other scholars and practitioners...[Fellows] pursue research related to Kellogg Institute themes of democracy and human development, share...research with the Notre Dame scholarly community, and have the opportunity to publish in Kellogg’s peer-reviewed Working Paper Series.”

National Science Foundation—Political Science
Deadline: August 15, 2017
“The Political Science Program supports scientific research that advances knowledge and understanding of citizenship, government, and politics. Research proposals are expected to be theoretically motivated, conceptually precise, methodologically rigorous, and empirically oriented. Substantive areas include, but are not limited to, American government and politics, comparative government and politics, international relations, political behavior, political economy, and political institutions.”

STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics) Funding

American Association for the Advancement of Science (AAAS) - Early Career Award for Public Engagement with Science
Deadline: August 15, 2017
“...recognizes early-career scientists and engineers who demonstrate excellence in their contribution to public engagement with science activities. A monetary prize of $5,000...complimentary registration to the AAAS Annual Meeting, and reimbursement for reasonable hotel and travel expenses to attend the AAAS Annual Meeting to receive the prize are given to the recipient.”

American Chemical Society – ACS Award for Encouraging Women into Careers in the Chemical Sciences
Nomination Deadline: November 1, 2017
“To recognize significant accomplishments by individuals who have stimulated or fostered the interest of women in chemistry, promoting their professional developments as chemists or chemical engineers. The award consists of $5,000 and a certificate. A grant of $10,000 will be made to an academic institution, designated by the recipient, to strengthen its activities in meeting the objectives of the award. Up to $1,500 for travel expenses to the meeting at which the award will be presented will be reimbursed. The Women Chemists Committee of the American Chemical Society will organize the award address.”

be unavailable from Friday, June 30 at 8:00 PM until Tuesday, July 4 at 6:00 PM EDT. This move has been scheduled around a holiday weekend to minimize downtime and reduce the impact on the research community and NSF staff. During this outage period, proposals cannot be submitted in FastLane, and project reports and cash requests cannot be submitted in Research.gov. However, previously saved information and uploaded documents in FastLane and Research.gov, including in-process proposals and reports, will be accessible after the Data Center moves.

From The Chronicle of Higher Education: NIH Abandons Plan to Limit Per-Person Grant Awards

“Facing protests from senior scientists, including members of its own advisory board, the National Institutes of Health on Thursday abandoned a plan to help younger researchers by imposing a general three-grant limit. Instead, the NIH is moving forward with a more complicated formula in which scientists who win a first grant under a program designed to aid first-time applicants will get priority for their second grant.”
