Grant Opportunities & News You Can Use

Greetings Faculty,

We hope you are enjoying the summer!

If you are considering any fellowship or grant applications this summer, please don’t hesitate in reaching out to us for support. We are also available for individualized grant opportunity research.

A reminder that we are accepting applications for the National Endowment for the Humanities 2018 Summer Stipend. To be considered as a nominee, please submit preliminary applications to Chris Johnson by 5:00 p.m. on Friday, September 8, 2017.

We hope you that you will find this edition’s grant and news highlights helpful.

As always, feel free to send any comments or suggestions directly to us here.

Kind regards,
Pamela Tuffley

Scholars and Writers offers fellowships to people whose work will benefit directly from access to the research collections at the Stephen A. Schwarzman Building at Fifth Avenue and 42nd Street (formerly the Humanities and Social Sciences Library). Renowned for the extraordinary comprehensiveness of its collections, the Library is one of the world's preeminent resources for study in anthropology, art, geography, history, languages and literature, philosophy, politics, popular culture, psychology, religion, sociology, and sports.”

Institute for Advanced Study – School of Historical Studies
Deadline: October 15, 2017
“...supports scholarship in all fields of historical research, but is concerned principally with the history of western, near eastern and Asian civilizations, with particular emphasis upon Greek and Roman civilization, the history of Europe (medieval, early modern, and modern), the Islamic world, East Asian studies, art history, the history of science and philosophy and modern international relations. The School also offers the Edward T. Cone Membership in Music Studies.”

Institute for Advanced Study – School of Social Science
Deadline: November 1, 2017
“Each year, between 20 and 25 scholars are selected as Members in the School of Social Science...The theme for 2017-18 is "The Social Sciences in a Changing World" but applications outside the theme are also welcomed. Funding for Member stipends is individually negotiated... the School attempts to provide half of the current academic base salary for all Members, up to a maximum stipend of $70,000.”

European University Institute Max Weber Programme for Postdoctoral Studies – Fellowship
Deadline: October 25, 2017
“The Max Weber Programme is funded by the European Commission (DG Education and Culture) ... [providing] bursaries of one or two years for around 50-55 Fellowships. These bursaries are open to scholars from anywhere in the world (not just nationals of an EU Member State) who have received a doctorate in economics, law, history, social and political sciences, or a related field, within the past 5 years. The Programme also includes a number of Fellows supported by other funders, such as national and other non-EU research bodies. Fellows are selected on the basis of their research accomplishments and potential, their academic career interests, and the availability of the EUI faculty to provide mentorship.”

American Chemical Society – ACS Award for Encouraging Women into Careers in the Chemical Sciences
Nomination Deadline: November 1, 2017
“To recognize significant accomplishments by individuals who have stimulated or fostered the interest of women in chemistry, promoting their professional developments as chemists or chemical engineers. The award consists of $5,000 and a certificate. A grant of $10,000 will be made to an academic institution, designated by the recipient, to strengthen its activities in meeting the objectives of the award. Up to $1,500 for travel expenses to the meeting at which the award will be presented will be reimbursed. The Women Chemists Committee of the American Chemical Society will organize the award address.”

American Psychological Foundation – Carmi Harari Early and Mid-Career Awards
Deadline: November 1, 2017
The Carmi Early and Mid-Career Awards are given for contributions in the areas of inquiry, application and social action. The Div. 32 Early Career Award is given to psychologists, no more than 10 years after receiving their PhD. The Div. 32 Mid-Career Award is given to psychologists, 10-20 years after receiving their PhD.

National Science Foundation – Astronomy and Astrophysics Grants
Deadline: November 15, 2017
“...provides individual investigator and collaborative research grants for observational, theoretical, laboratory, and archival data studies in astronomy and astrophysics. Acceptable research areas include the following: stellar astronomy and astrophysics; the astronomy and astrophysics of our Galaxy; extragalactic astronomy and astrophysics; and cosmology.”

Simons Foundation – Math+X Investigators
Deadline: October 31, 2017
“This program is designed to encourage novel collaborations between mathematics and other fields in science or engineering by providing funds to professors at universities in the United States, Canada, the United Kingdom, or Ireland to establish programs at the interface between mathematics and other fields of science or engineering.”

Simons Foundation - Simons Collaboration on the Origins of Life 2018 Postdoctoral Fellowships
Deadline: September 12, 2017
“...supports creative, innovative research on topics such as the astrophysical and planetary context of the origins of life, the development of prebiotic chemistry, the assembly of the first cells, the advent of Darwinian evolution and the earliest signs of life on the young Earth.” This is a postdoctoral fellowship.

Simons Foundation-Fellowships in Mathematics and Theoretical Physics
Deadline: September 28, 2017
“Through the two programs, the foundation will award grants of up to $100,000 to university faculty members for up to a semester-long research leave from classroom teaching and administrative obligations in order to refresh their creativity and/or provide intellectual stimulation. The goal of the program is to make it easier for a faculty member to take such a leave, or to extend a sabbatical leave by an extra half year.”

Whitehall Foundation—Basic Biological Research Grants and Grants-in-Aid
Deadline: October 1, January 15
Research Grants: available to established scientists of all ages. Research grants of up to three years will be provided...Research grants will not be awarded to investigators who have already received, or expect to receive, substantial support from other sources...grants normally range from $30,000 to $75,000 per year. Grants-in-Aid: designed for researchers at the assistant professor level who experience difficulty in competing for research funds because they have not yet become firmly established. Grants-in-Aid can also be made to senior scientists. Grants-in-Aid are awarded for a one-year period and do not exceed $30,000.

From NIH: Receiving NIH Funding? Don’t Forget Your Responsibilities in Reporting Progress and Financials “Failure to submit complete and accurate reports doesn’t just affect one individual – it can affect future funding to the entire organization, and can result in a delay of continued support. Read more in NIH Guide Notice NOT-OD-17-074.”

From NIH: NIH’s Next Generation Researchers Initiative “Beginning this fiscal year, the NIH institute or center (IC) who would fund the grant will give your application special consideration for support if you are:

- an early-stage investigator (within 10 years of completing your terminal research degree or medical residency and have not previously received a substantial independent NIH research award) and receive a score in the top 25th percentile (or an impact score of 35 if the application is not percentiled) a mid-career investigator (within 10 years of receiving your first NIH R01 equivalent award) who scores in the 25th percentile, and either:
- are at risk of losing all support, or,
- are a particularly promising investigator currently supported by a single ongoing award (i.e., NIH will prioritize funding an additional concurrent research project grant award).

As further details are announced, we will be updating the Next Generation Researchers Initiative web page with this information. In the meantime, we encourage you to read the NIH Director’s statement, and look at the Advisory Committee to the director presentation and webcast recording.”
