Fall 2024 Spring 2025

Planning Notes (please read carefully!):

- 1. The SIPA Masters degrees require a total of 54 credits. 24 of those credits need to be completed during your senior year at Barnard (2024-2025).
- 2. For your reference, here are sample programs from Year 1 of SIPA:
 - MIA program, see "Year 1"
 - MPA program, see "Year 1"
- 3. SIPA courses taken during Year 4 (your senior year at Barnard) can be 'double counted'.
 - They will appear on your Barnard transcript and applied to your Barnard degree credit total, as long as they are assessed to be 'liberal arts' rather than 'professional' courses. The Barnard Faculty Lead for the SIPA 4+1 Pathway, currently Professor Elizabeth Ananat, will make that assessment.
 - The SIPA courses you complete in Year 4 can then be transferred and accepted toward your SIPA degree, once you have matriculated as a Fulltime SIPA student in Year 5.
- 4. If you wish to apply SIPA courses taken Year 4 toward your major(s) or minor(s), your major advisor and/or major department chair must approve the individual courses and provide Prof. Ananat with written notification of their approval.
- 5. If you wish to apply SIPA courses taken Year 4 toward your Barnard general education requirements (GERs), Barnard's list of courses that satisfy Modes of Thinking & Distribution requirements can be found using this list. If the course is not listed there you can appeal to COI using this form. Please note: appealing to COI is a time-consuming process; it cannot be done last-minute, and is not guaranteed to be successful. It is important to plan ahead, and to discuss alternative plans with your advisors.
