Spring 2024

Notes:

1. The SIPA Masters degrees require a total of 54 credits. 24 of those credits need to be completed during your senior year at Barnard (2023-2024).

2. For your reference, here are sample programs from Year 1 of SIPA:
 - MIA program, see "Year 1"
 - MPA program, see "Year 1"
3. SIPA courses can be ‘double counted’ -- applied to both your Barnard degree credit total and your SIPA degree -- as long as they are assessed to be ‘liberal arts’ rather than ‘professional’ courses. Barnard Faculty Lead Professor Elizabeth Ananat will make that assessment.
4. If you wish to apply SIPA courses taken while still a Barnard undergrad toward your major(s) or minor(s), your major advisor and/or major department chair must approve the individual courses and provide Prof. Ananat with written notification of their approval.
5. If you wish to apply SIPA courses taken while still a Barnard undergrad toward your Barnard general education requirements (GERs), Barnard’s list of courses that satisfy Modes of Thinking & Distribution requirements can be found using this list. If the course is not listed there you can appeal to COI using this form.
