Grant Opportunities & News You Can Use

Happy spring!

It appears this is the season for Social Scientists. This edition of the Grants Newsletter sports a long list of deadlines coming up in May in that discipline, mostly from the Wenner Gren Foundation, the National Institute of Justice, and the Russell Sage Foundation. Profiles for all disciplines start on page four; the Social Sciences begin on page eight.

We feature the Fitch Foundation’s opportunities for historic preservation. Sage Advice charts out suggested timelines for grant applications.

As usual, we include recent News, followed by profiles of opportunities coming up in the month of May. Reminders for deadlines over the next six months can be found beginning on page twelve, grouped by discipline.

Like the Fellowships Calendar in our last newsletter, you can download the whole year’s Grants Calendar from the website and sort by due date, discipline, funder, or grant type.

Internal grant deadlines have now passed for this academic year. Be on the lookout for next year’s deadlines on the Internal Grants page of the Barnard website. If you have colleagues abroad whom you would like to bring to Barnard under the Weiss Fellowships for Visiting International Scholars Program, please see information here.

For assistance in finding grants for an upcoming project or to begin an application process, please contact Kari Steeves or any one of us in Institutional Funding and Sponsored Research. As always, feel free to send us comments, requests, or suggestions here.

Spring is finally arriving and, with that, weather amenable to appreciating scenic landscapes and historic areas, so it is fitting that we’re featuring the James Marston Fitch Charitable Foundation which, among other work, supports those working in preservation and landscape architecture.

The Fitch Foundation was founded in 1989 by James Marston Fitch, who led Columbia’s first graduate program in architectural preservation. The foundation considers itself the “vanguard of historic preservation practice and theory” by providing mid-career grants to professionals working in the fields of preservation, landscape architecture, urban design, environmental planning, decorative arts, architectural design, and architectural history. Their reach is certainly interdisciplinary, as is represented in their range of available grants and fellowships.

The Fitch Mid-Career Fellowship awards research grants of up to $15,000 to professionals with an academic background, professional experience, and an established identity in one of the foundation’s fields of interest. Projects are chosen that will “make a meaningful contribution to the academic and/or professional field of historic preservation in the United States” and that demonstrate “innovative thinking, original research, and creative problem solving or design.” Applications are generally due in the fall.

The Richard L. Blinder Award is presented biennially to an architect or related field for a proposal exploring architecture or preservation. “The proposal may focus on a real project or it may be a polemical exercise; in either case, originality is highly valued. The proposal must advance architectural preservation in the United States. The product can be graphic, text-based or a combination of both and must be able to be shared with the architecture and preservation community.” The award is for up to $15,000. Applications for 2020 funding will open in the fall.

The Samuel H. Kress Fellowship provides research grants of up to $15,000 for research relating to “appreciation, interpretation, preservation, study and teaching of European art, architecture and related disciplines from antiquity to the early 19th century, in the context of historic preservation in the United States.” Applications will open in the fall.

The foundation also organizes occasional symposia on the topics of preservation and conservation. Past topics include “Conservation Law: New York City and the Nation,” “The Accidental Preservationist,” and “Design and Heritage.” For videos, papers, and more information about future products, check out their website at fitchfoundation.org.
Sage Advice for Competitive Proposals

It’s All About Timing.

On these pages, we have conveyed countless bromides from advice columnists to “start early” when applying for grants. “It’s never too early....,” “Don’t wait for the last minute....,” “Plan ahead....,” or the less ambitious “be on time.” Since “early” to one applicant may be “OMG I’M SO BEHIND!” to another, let’s look at some numbers.

Smaller Pots for Women
New study of NIH funding says women overall get smaller grants than men, even when controlling for research potential. The findings have implications for their long-term success in academic science.
https://www.insidehighered.com/news/2019/03/06/new-study-nih-funding-says-women-get-smaller-grants-men#.XKKDgHMsqbh.link

Below, we’re highlighting some of NIH’s training modules—not the most popcorn-worthy viewing, but helpful in making sure your proposal is submission-ready. These can also be helpful for students to view.

Recently, the NIH posted a “New ‘All About Grants’ Podcast on Using RePORT Web Tools Throughout the Grant Process,” part of a multi-part webcast. “In this next installment of the NIH’s All About Grants podcast series, Dr. Brian Haugen and Dr. Cindy Danielson from the NIH Office of Extramural Research join us to share their advice on applying these tools to help you throughout the grants process (MP3 / Transcript). We touch on areas such as figuring out who to contact at NIH to discuss your research ideas, seeing what research projects NIH has funded, and how to apply these tools to strengthen your grant application. RePORT attracts over 120,000 unique visitors each month, so tune in to see what the excitement is all about and learn how you too can strategically use its tools.”

NIH hosts a Clearinghouse for Training Modules to Enhance Data Reproducibility. The modules were themselves grant funded in response to RFPs issued in 2014 and 2018. There is a series of introductory videos that cover things like “Lack of Transparency” and “Blinding and Randomization.” You can also find “Let’s Experiment: A Guide for Scientists Working at the Bench,” “Statistical Topics for Reproducible Animal Research,” and “Improving Reproducibility in Research,” among other options.

FROM THE NEH

The NEH has made significant changes to its Fellowship Guidelines—a writing sample will now be required:
From the guidelines:
“Applicants must submit a writing sample that demonstrates the applicant’s ability to express ideas and make a clear argument. It should be in the style of the proposed project. Evaluators will use the sample to assess the clarity of your writing as well as your knowledge of the subject area. The writing sample can be either from the proposed project (preferred) or from a recent publication, but it should not be more than five years old. It must be from a single piece of work and single-authored. For junior scholars, an excerpt from your dissertation is acceptable if you are applying for your first book project. The writing sample may not be more than ten double-spaced pages, including any footnotes or endnotes, and may not include a table of contents, an outline, or an abstract of the proposed work (information of this sort belongs in the narrative). In preparing the sample, leave one-inch margins and use a font no smaller than eleven point. You may single-space footnotes or endnotes. If the sample is a PDF of a published work, its length must not exceed the equivalent of ten double-spaced pages in eleven-point typescript. If the sample has been published, you must indicate this and list the publication on your résumé.”
Also, some of our colleagues who attended the CUR Dialogues reported that the NEH will be piloting a new system of peer reviews for the Fellowship program. A three-person panel with a specific scope (such as 19th-century American history) will conduct an initial review of applications. Those selected will then be reviewed by a full peer review panel that has a broader scope (e.g., American and British history), as is customary.

Grant Opportunities

GENERAL

Rockefeller Foundation
Bellagio Academic Writing Residency—in Italy
Deadline: May 1, 2019
"The Rockefeller Foundation Bellagio Center Residency Program offers academics, artists, thought leaders, policymakers, and practitioners a serene setting conducive to focused, goal-oriented work, and the unparalleled opportunity to establish new connections with fellow residents from a wide array of backgrounds, disciplines, and geographies."
<<more>>

William T. Grant Foundation
Research Grants on Reducing Inequality
Deadline: May 1, 2019
"The research grants programs support high-quality field-initiated studies that are relevant to policies and practices that affect the lives of young people ages 5 to 25 in the United States. Research proposals are evaluated on the basis of their fit with a given focus area; the strength and feasibility of their designs, methods, and analyses; their potential to inform change; and their contribution to theory and empirical evidence."
<<more>>

John Templeton Foundation
Academic Cross-Training Fellowship
Deadline: May 3, 2019 for letters of inquiry
"Fellowship program is intended to equip recently tenured philosophers and theologians with the skills and knowledge needed to study Big Questions that require substantive and high-level engagement with empirical science. Each ACT Fellowship will provide up to $217,400 for up to 3 contiguous years of support for a systematic and sustained course of study in an empirical science such as physics, psychology, biology, genetics, cognitive science, neuroscience, or sociology. Acceptable courses of study might range from a plan to audit undergraduate and graduate-level courses to a plan to earn a degree in an empirical science. Fellows may undertake their study at their home institution or another institution. All fellows must have a faculty mentor in their cross-training discipline."

DAAD German Academic Exchange Service
Research Stays for University Academics and Scientists—in Germany
Deadline: May 15, 2019
"DAAD grants provide foreign academics and scientists with an opportunity to carry out research and continue their education in Germany. The aim of this particular programme is to support short-term research stays and thus promote the exchange of experience and networking amongst colleagues. Research stays can be funded at state or state-recognised institutions of higher education or non-university research institutes in Germany and last one to three months, providing monthly payments as well as travel allowances."
<<more>>

Arts and Humanities

Whiting Foundation
Creative Nonfiction Grant
Deadline: April 22, 2019
"The Whiting Creative Nonfiction Grant of $40,000 is awarded to writers in the process of completing a book of deeply researched and imaginatively composed nonfiction. The Whiting Foundation recognizes that these works are essential to our culture, but come into being at great cost to writers in time and resources. The grant is intended to encourage original and ambitious projects by giving recipients the additional means to do exacting research and devote time to composition." On website as of 11.13.18 "All creative nonfiction writers under contract with a publisher and at least two years into their contract are encouraged to apply online. Applicants must be US citizens or residents. Whiting welcomes submissions for works of history, cultural or political reportage, biography, memoir, the sciences, philosophy, criticism, food or travel writing, and personal essays, among other categories." <<more>>

Association for the Sociology of Religion

Joseph H. Fichter Research Grant Competition

Deadlines: May 1, 2019

"Fichter Research Grants are awarded annually by ASR to members of the Association involved in promising sociological research on women in religion or on the intersection between religion and gender or religion and sexualities. A total of $12,000 is available to be awarded annually, and this amount is usually distributed among several of the leading applications in the year’s competition. Dissertation research qualifies for funding, as does postdoctoral research by junior and senior scholars. Although these grants are open to scholars who are pursuing or currently have a Ph.D. in a range of disciplines, the proposed research must be sociological in nature. Applicants must also be members of the Association for the Sociology of Religion at the time of application. The Fichter Grants cover only direct research expenses, such as: (1) transportation expenses to conduct research; (2) the cost of hiring a research assistant or transcriber; (3) computer software packages that are not typically provided by a college or university (e.g., specialized statistical software packages)." <<more>>

Dallas Institute of Humanities and Culture

Hiett Prize in the Humanities

Deadline: May 3, 2019

"The Hiett Prize in the Humanities is an annual award of $50,000 aimed at identifying candidates who are ascending in a career devoted to the humanities and whose work shows extraordinary promise to have a significant impact on contemporary culture." <<more>>

Gilder Lehrman Institute of American History Fellowships

Deadline: May 13, 2019

"Gilder Lehrman fellowships support research at archives in New York City. The Institute provides annual short-term research fellowships in the amount of $3000 each to doctoral candidates, college and university faculty at every rank, and independent scholars working in the field of American history." <<more>>

American Historical Association

Joan Kelly Memorial Prize

Deadline: May 15, 2019

"Established in 1984 and named in memory of Joan Kelly (1928–82), this prize is awarded annually for the book in women’s history and/or feminist theory that best reflects the high intellectual and scholarly ideals exemplified by the life and work of Joan Kelly. The prize was established by the Coordinating Committee on Women in the Historical Profession and the Conference Group on Women’s History (now the Coordinating Council for Women in History), and is administered by the American Historical Association." <<more>>

American Historical Association

William Edwyna Gilbert Award

Deadline: May 15, 2019

"The William and Edwyna Gilbert Award for the Best Article on Teaching History annually recognizes outstanding contributions to the teaching of history through the publication of articles in journals, magazines, and other serials. Authors must be members of the AHA. Both the author of the winning article and the journal that publishes it will each receive the award. Journals and individual members may submit nominations on the teaching of history (including scholarship of teaching and learning, methodology and theory of pedagogy)." <<more>>

Wilson Center Support Grants Deadline: Rolling
"CWIHP offers resources and support to scholars of all levels who are conducting archival research on the history of the Cold War. In addition to CWIHP’s formal fellowships, the project accepts ad-hoc proposals and funding requests to support archival research." <<more>>

Arts Writers Grants Program Deadline: May 20, 2019
"The program supports writing about contemporary art and aims to ensure that critical writing remains a valued mode of engaging the visual arts. These grants support projects addressing both general and specialized art audiences, from scholarly studies to self-published blogs." <<more>>

Culinary Historians of New York Scholar’s Grant Deadline: May 24, 2019
"The CHNY Scholar’s Grant promotes research and scholarship in the field of culinary history and is awarded annually to individuals seeking financial support for a current, well-developed project that will culminate in a book, article, paper, film, or other scholarly endeavor, including ephemera. The grants are unrestricted and can be used to defray research expenses, attend conferences, or engage in other activities related to the applicant’s project." <<more>>

Australian National University Research School of Humanities and the Arts Humanities Research Centre Visiting Fellowships Deadline: May 31, 2019
"As a core part of its mission, throughout the year the HRC welcomes several visiting fellows from around the world pursuing research projects in the Humanities. The HRC interprets the ‘Humanities’ generously. As well as supporting scholarship in traditional Humanities disciplines, its visiting fellowship programs encourage and support interdisciplinary and comparative research both within and beyond the Humanities. As members of the scholarly community at the HRC, visiting fellows make valuable contributions to its intellectual life, and to the intellectual life of the broader university community. Each year, a theme is chosen which inspires and informs research activity within the HRC." <<more>>

Northern Illinois University Library Horatio Alger Fellowship for the Study of American Popular Culture Deadline: May 31, 2019
"Funding is available to scholars who will be using materials from the Libraries’ major holdings in American popular culture. These holdings include the Albert Johannsen and Edward T. LeBlanc Collections of more than 50,000 dime novels, and the nation’s preeminent collections related to Horatio Alger, Jr., and Edward Stratemeyer. Eligible collections also include our comic book, science fiction and fantasy literature, and American Popular Literature Collections. Topics which could draw on the collections’ strengths might include the plight of urban children, image of the American West in popular literature, widespread use of pseudonyms, and stereotypical portrayals. Preference will be given to applicants who signify an interest in conducting research related to Horatio Alger, Jr." <<more>>
The Henry Charles Chapman Fellowship is awarded biennially to members of academic staff of any university for work in the social sciences and recent history relating to the countries of the Commonwealth other than Britain and which is of relevance to the research interests of the Institute. Chapman Fellows are welcome to use the Institute’s facilities and in addition are offered a desk in a shared office. Chapman Fellows are expected to play an appropriate part in the Institute’s activities."

"The Institute of Commonwealth Studies is the only postgraduate academic institution in the United Kingdom devoted to the study of the Commonwealth. Its purpose is to promote interdisciplinary and inter-regional research on the Commonwealth and its member nations in the fields of history, politics, economics and other social sciences, and in subjects like development, environment, health, migration, class, race, and literature." <<more>>

Wenner Gren Foundation Fejos Postdoctoral Fellowship in Ethnographic Film

Deadline: May 1, 2019

"By providing funds for scholars to devote themselves to full-time work on a research-related film, the Foundation aims to enable a new generation of scholars to present their work via this medium. Broadly speaking, we seek to support projects that will have an impact on the field of anthropology -- as well as outreach beyond the academy -- through the support of exciting new and innovative work in the field of ethnographic film." <<more>>

Wenner Gren Foundation Hunt Postdoctoral Fellowships

Deadline: May 1, 2019

"By providing funds for scholars to devote themselves full-time to writing, the Foundation aims to enable a new generation of scholars to publish significant works that will impact the development of anthropology. The program contributes to the Foundation's overall mission to support basic research in anthropology and to ensure that the discipline continues to be a source of vibrant and significant work that furthers our understanding of humanity's cultural and biological origins, development, and variation. The Foundation supports research that demonstrates a clear link to anthropological theory and debates." <<more>>

Wenner Gren Foundation Post-Ph.D. Research Grants

Deadline: May 1 and November 1, 2019

"Post-Ph.D. Research Grants are awarded to individuals holding a Ph.D. or equivalent degree to support individual research projects. The program contributes to the Foundation's overall mission to support basic research in anthropology and to ensure that the discipline continues to be a source of vibrant and significant work that furthers our understanding of humanity's cultural and biological origins, development, and variation. The Foundation supports research that demonstrates a clear link to anthropological theory and debates, and promises to make a solid contribution to advancing these ideas. There is no preference for any methodology, research location, or subfield. The Foundation particularly welcomes proposals that employ a comparative perspective, can generate innovative approaches or ideas, and/or integrate two or more subfields." <<more>>

National Institute of Justice Evaluation of Services of Victims of Crime

Deadline: May 6, 2019

"NIJ is seeking applications for rigorous evaluations of programs that provide services for victims of crime. This solicitation is focused on formative evaluations and evaluability assessments, not to exceed a 24-month period of performance. This solicitation supports the U.S. Department of Justice’s priority of reducing victimization by examining interventions that may be effective in reducing re-victimization and supporting victim needs." <<more>>
National Institute of Justice
Research and Evaluation on Policing
Deadline: May 7, 2019

National Institute of Justice
Research and Evaluation on Trafficking of Persons
Deadline: May 20, 2019
"With this solicitation, NIJ seeks proposals for research projects that increase understanding of the relationship between immigration, both legal and illegal, and crime. Applicants should propose research projects that have clear implications for criminal justice policy and practice in the United States. NIJ encourages applicants to submit proposals for innovative approaches to advance the field’s rigor and methodology in understanding the relationship between immigration and crime." <<more>>

Smith Richardson Foundation
Grants
Deadline: Rolling
"The International Security and the Foreign Policy Program and Domestic Public Policy Program make grants for research and writing on public policy topics that have been identified as priority areas for the Foundation." "The objective of the International Security and Foreign Policy Program is to assist the U.S. policy community in developing effective national security strategies and foreign policies. The Foundation is committed to supporting projects that help the policy community face the fundamental challenge of ensuring the security of the United States, protecting and promoting American interests and values abroad, and enhancing international order. The Domestic Public Policy Program supports projects that will help the public and policy makers understand and address critical challenges facing the United States. To that end, the Foundation supports research on and evaluation of existing public policies and programs, as well as projects that inject new ideas into public debates." <<more>>

Russell Sage Foundation
Race, Ethnicity, and Immigration
Deadline: May 23 and November 30, 2019
"The Foundation’s newest program on Race, Ethnicity, and Immigration, replaces two previous programs: Immigration and Cultural Contact. Insights gained from these two long-standing programs inform the genesis of the new program on Race, Ethnicity, and Immigration. The new program encourages multi-disciplinary perspectives on questions stemming from the significant changes in the racial, ethnic, and immigrant-origin composition of the U.S. population. A primary goal is to find ways in which researchers from different social science traditions studying issues of race, ethnicity, and immigration may complement one another in productive and innovative ways. We continue to encourage multi-disciplinary perspectives and methods that both strengthen the data, theory, and methods of social science research and foster an understanding of how we might better achieve the American ideals of a pluralist society." <<more>>

Russell Sage Foundation
The Social, Economic, and Political Effects of the Affordable Care Act
Deadline: May 23, 2019—Final round of funding
"This Russell Sage Foundation initiative will support innovative social science research on the social, economic and political effects of the Affordable Care Act. We are especially interested in funding analyses that address important questions about the effects of the reform on outcomes such as financial security and family economic well-being, labor supply and demand, participation in other public programs, family and children’s outcomes, and differential effects by age, race, ethnicity, nativity, or disability status. We are also interested in research that examines the political effects of the implementation of the new law, including changes in views about government, support for future government policy changes, or the impact on policy development outside of health care. Funding is available for secondary analysis of data or for original data collection. We welcome projects that propose novel uses of existing data, as well as projects that propose to analyze newly available or underutilized data." <<more>>

Russell Sage Foundation
Behavioral Economics
Deadline: May 23, August 20, November 30, 2019
"The Russell Sage Foundation’s program on Behavioral Economics supports innovative research that uses behavioral insights from psychology and other social sciences to examine and improve social and living conditions in the United States. We seek investigator-initiated research proposals that will broaden our understanding of the social, economic and political consequences of real-life behaviors and decisions that deviate from the neoclassical economic standards of rationality. RSF is especially interested in behavioral economics research that contributes to our understanding of topics of interest under its other programs—Future of Work; Race, Ethnicity and Immigration; Social Inequality." <<more>>

Russell Sage Foundation
Immigration and Immigrant Integration
Deadline: May 23, August 19, 2019—final round of funding
“The Russell Sage Foundation/Carnegie Corporation Initiative on Immigration and Immigrant Integration seeks to support innovative research on the effects of race, citizenship, legal status and politics, political culture and public policy on outcomes for immigrants and for the native-born of different racial and ethnic groups and generations. This initiative falls under RSF’s Race, Ethnicity, and Immigration Program and represents a special area of interest within the core program, which continues to encourage proposals on a broader set of issues.” <<more>>

Wilson Center Billington Fellowship

Deadline: May 15, 2019
"The Billington Fellow will be based at the Wilson Center’s Kennan Institute in Washington, D.C. for a nine-month term (one academic year). Fellows will receive access to the Library of Congress, National Archives, and policy research centers in Washington, D.C., as well as the opportunity to meet with key experts and officials at the State Department, USAID, Department of Defense, and Congress. While conducting research, the Billington Fellow will be expected to actively participate in discussions with the policy and academic communities. These discussions can be in the form of speaking engagements at the Wilson Center and potentially outside of Washington D.C., as well as attending meetings, conferences, and other activities organized by the Kennan Institute and the Wilson Center. Upon completion of the fellowship, the Billington Fellow will join our growing list of alumni, for whom the Kennan Institute will continue to offer opportunities for collaboration and engagement. Applicants for the Billington Fellowship must hold a Ph.D. awarded within the past 10 years. Preference will be given to proposed research in the fields of Russian history and culture. There is no citizenship restriction on this grant."
