Arvind Krishna Mehrotra, poet, translator, and professor at the University of Allahabad, reads from and discusses the work of five Indian poets: Toru Dutt, A. K. Ramanujan, Arun Kolatkar, Dilip Chitre, and himself. Among Professor Mehrotra’s translations are The Absent Traveller: Prakrit Love Poetry from the Gāthāsaptaśati of Sātavāhana Hala, and most recently Songs of Kabir, a new and acclaimed rendering of poems of the 15th-century Indian mystic and saint.

This lecture is presented thanks to a grant from the Mellon Foundation. A reception will follow.
